

BOARD OF DIRECTOR MEMBER Annie Lehrer

The Soulard School would like to introduce Annie Lehrer MSN, ACNP-BC. Annie (she/her/hers), a native St. Louisian, is a Soulard alumni parent with 26 years experience in the healthcare industry. She is deeply committed to the delivery of equitable and just healthcare by standardizing practice models, implementing evidence-based practice and supporting the professional development of her colleagues through fostering a diverse and inclusive community. She is passionate about social justice, education and creating a world where everyone feels they belong. Additionally, Annie has been deeply involved with the arts throughout the years. She is also a notable fiber artist with many years spent enjoying knitting, crochet, embroidery, and cross stitch.

Annie shares her life with her spouse Simon and their son, Angus. They enjoy traveling the world, cooking, gaming, film, art, exploring St. Louis and spending time with family and friends. Annie joined the Board of The Soulard School in 2023.

“I have always had a deep love for the city of Saint Louis and believe in our ability to do great things. Community involvement, justice and equity for all, and compassion are integral to our family and we found that to be the same in The Soulard School community. TSS is a transformative place for children and we believe strongly in the mission of The Soulard School. Through the well-rounded academic programming and social emotional curriculum, they create a culture that respects and values all people, fosters understanding of all kinds and incorporates health and wellness. As a parent and health care provider, this is of the utmost importance to me. The core pillars of community engagement, diversity and inclusion, and integrated studies curriculum set our children up to be change makers and stewards of our community. And we are proud to be a part of that.”
